Urgent call to halt persecution of Rohingyas

Uniting Church in Australia President Stuart McMillan urged the Australian Government to work to end the brutal violence against the Rohingya people in Myanmar:

“The Australian Government must urgently work alongside the international community to halt what is justifiably being described as the ethnic cleansing of the Rohingya minority by military forces.

“I echo calls from the Grand Mufti of Australia Dr Ibahim Abu Mohammed for the Government to allocate a new quota for the arrival of Rohingya refugees into Australia.

“Australia must do whatever we can to support those who have fled and who cannot return home.”

Uniting Church members are called to pray for the Rohingya people.
